The Test: Why Our Schools Are Obsessed with Standardized ...

Imagine if Kamenetz and her fellow progressive Brooklyn public school parents did exactly that—teachers and parents could have the hands-on, play-based, child-centered schools of their dreams, and test day would be just another day at school. Unless, of course, the test scores came back weak. Then Kamenetz might write another, more complicated book. And that's the one I want to read. Craft your answer to address the question being asked. Although the questions are similar, each college may have its own unique angle on it. 'What will you bring to the table' is quite different from 'Why do you want to go to our college'.

How to Answer "Why Did You Choose This School?"

A curriculum based on standardized tests implies that our students' lives, our lives, and the vibrant lives of our communities just don't seem to matter. In contrast, as teachers we recognize every day that there is no true curriculum without students' lives, engagement and voices.
